

The NEW Voices Vic Pocket Guide

A self-help guide for voice hearers, by voice hearers

When we're at our most distressed it can be difficult to remember recovery and coping strategies. Hearing voices can make this even more confusing.

The new Voices Vic self-help pocket guide for voice hearers is designed to be there for people when the voices get too much, and can easily fit in a pocket or wallet so it's always with you.

The guide is based on the latest ideas from the hearing voices approach, and has been developed in consultation with local Victorian voice hearers.

Pocket Guides Include:

- Strategies to improve your relationship with voices and decrease distress
- Strategies for crises (including space to write your own strategies)
- Calling for help (important crisis services, plus space to write your own support numbers)
- Online resources for voice hearers

How to get your guide/s:

- Individuals can get 1-2 guides for free – just pop into our office to pick one up.
